RE: No Current Impact to Cooper Bussmann- Global Operations, Raw Materials or Transportation Routing Related to Japanese Crisis.

To Whom It May Concern:

Please be advised this communication is to confirm there is no current impact to Cooper Bussmann global routing of freight or shipments via any mode related to the current crisis in Japan. All freight is moving through normal transit channels without delay.

Current routing for our organization does not require utilization of Japan's ocean ports and/or International Forwarding air cargo hubs.

Additionally, please note there is no impact to our global operations or raw materials utilized for production and manufacturing of our product lines.

The situation will continue to be closely monitored throughout the region with updates provided immediately upon receipt.

Please advise any additional questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

Shawna C. Enz-Cross
