Dear Customer:

We are actively following the dramatic scenes caused by the Earthquake and resulting damages in Japan.

We would like to confirm that our own manufacturing facilities in China and Taiwan were not directly affected by the Earthquake. Our Suppliers confirm that none of our short term deliveries are currently affected by this, however cannot predict exclusively which further consequences this will have on future deliveries. These may include issues such as governmental restrictions on transport routes or contamination of materials originating out of Japan.

We will maintain close contact with our suppliers as well as our TSC staff who are situated in Tokyo and provide you with any up to date information which may influence supply.

Thanks for your understanding.

Best Regards

Andy Chao
