Japan - Earthquake & Tsunami

Dear Mr. Beinsen,

As for the potential business impact to Excelitas, it has been difficult to ascertain exactly how power and transport disruptions are affecting our customers since many have not re-opened in order to ensure their employees remain safe. We are reaching out to our customers as well as key suppliers who source directly or indirectly from Japanese facilities to get timely updates on the extent and expected duration of any demand and/or supply disruption. For the vast majority of our products, we maintain a buffer stock of materials, but there are instances of extended lead times and missed deliveries that will impact our ability to satisfy customer demand in the short term. However, we see this impact as being relatively minor at this time.

Best regards

Jároslaw Czeladzinski | Sales Manager North and East Europe, Detection | Excelitas Technologies GmbH & Co. KG
